THE WORLD'S MOST IMPORTANT BATTLE 1920 (1920 BITWA WARSZAWSKA), a new feature film by legendary master of Polish cinema Jerzy Hoffman will premiere in New York on Tuesday, December 11, 2011

The first 3D action film production in Europe belongs presently to the most awaited movies. Counted as the most expensive film in a history of Polish cinema, this grand-scale epic saga follows the tradition of the genre's classics, such as Gone with the Wind or War and Peace. The film focuses on the 1920 clash between powerful Red Army and soldiers of newly reborn Poland resulted in a repulsion of Bolsheviks from the gates of Warsaw. The heroic effort of Poles led by Marshal Jozef Pilsudski defeated Soviets in the battle which shattered Lenin's dreams of conquering all Continent and introducing communism to the world. The World's Most Important Battle 1920 is not rated yet, and suggested age limit is 12 years old; it is a family cinema at its best. Dialogues are in Polish and Russian with English subtitles.
