Painting is like silent poem, said Simonides, poet from ancient Greece. Those words are today true as then.Paintings are icons, doors to the Platonian world above the heavens, world from lirics of Safo. In my paintings I try to connect with this tradition and view of art. My paintings present my own imaginary world, not real one, world of creation and metaphors, partly myth and partly fairy tale. This is, in short, idea behind my art. hope it will find its own way to speak to your soul.
